JAMIE HECTOR'S 3RD ANNUAL MOVING MOUNTAINS WEEKEND

This past weekend in New York City, actor Jamie Hector held his 3rd annual Moving Mountains fund raising weekend. The weekend consisted of two events, the youth showcase and the celebrity paintball tournament. Each year, Jamie Hector works hard to prepare a fun filled weekend to raise funds for his Moving Mountains Inc. organization so that the talented youth in the inner-city communities in NYC can have a place to go throughout the school year and during the summer season. The organization consists of young actors, dancers, singers and those who work behind the scenes to bring the productions to life. Jamie Hector assists the youth in every aspect of performing arts, aiding them in perfecting their craft and taking it to another level.

This year's events started off with the Moving Mountains youth show case. The youth show case was held in Brooklyn, NY, at the Brooklyn Museum, where youth ages 12-21, who are a part of the organization came together to present snippets, from films, musicals and plays, they've been working on throughout the year. The showcase ended in a thunderous applause with a satisfied audience.

The weekend continued with a celebrity paintball tournament. Peter Fernoselle and NYC paintball in Long Island City, NY, opened up their doors once again to Moving Mountains for another year of fun. Jamie Hector and cast members from HBO's "The Wire" series came out to compete with the last team standing. "The Wire" team as they are known consisted of actor Jamie Hector, actor Michael Kostroff, actor Domenick Lombardozi, actor JD Williams, actor Julito McCullum and actor Isiah Whitlock Jr. Actress Sonja Sohn was in attendance for support while she didn't compete in this year's tournament. Additional teams competed in the tournament with the winning team playing against "The Wire" team. "The Wire" team who happens to be undefeated, won again, holding their championship title. The event concluded with a trophy presented on behalf of Moving Mountains Inc and NYC Paintball.
